BIOLOGIQUE RECHERCHE | LUXURY FACIAL

A few weeks ago now I was lucky enough to be offered the chance to experience a luxury facial at Biologique Recherche a wonderful French company who really know their stuff and how to bring out the best in every way possible. I went to EP 20th Spa in Kensington, which is where the lovely ladies who did my facial in the treatment for the UK and treat guests, for the most the walls from there is not open to the public in the past we offered photos provided by Instagram. In of the Biologique Recherche ambassade de la Beauté in Paris and the gorgeous 20th I know you may not afford at Biologique Recherche I didn't will see their because they don't use a service they are not a high street brand they are the epitome of class and provide work of mouth and testimonials to prove how wonderful their results are...

I was lucky enough to have a wonderful Skin Lissant and Cold Mask treatment

This treatment is great for softening and calming stressed out and imbalanced skin. Leaving the skin hydrated, protected and renewed.

With the added cold mask, sensitivity is reduced and blanching and redness is diminished.

The complexion is washed and left refreshed with a radiant glow, this got me ready and looking fresher for Auro. They don't determine what treatment to do based on your general skin type is, combination or oily They determine product and treatment recommendation on 'Skin Trainers' Biologique Recherche understands the skin is always changing and to accommodate this they make sure they customize and tailor make products and treatments to suit every need and concern that their clients may have. Meaning you could go in one time and receive one sort of treatment and the next time receive something else its all dependant on you skin at that precise time. This is really unique and unusual for a brand to do but it work it means its not a generic treatment where some aspects work and others don't, it is tailored for you and only you.

The products they use are not using alcohol or added extras to make them "small pretty" they are natural in creation and the scent of mine was not floral or citrus but earthy and fresh making me feel that what was going on my skin wasn't putting in any nasties as that's what I was looking to get rid of and when brands add too much to their products they can cause more problems for the skin. So another huge round of applause for creating quality products here BR.

One thing is, is that when I say luxury I mean it, this won't be for everyone but it is worth its price I promise, remember this isn't your £40 generic spa facial. The price range for my tailor made treatment is between £440-£1250. Each individual salon/spa/clinic will have their own cost of the treatment. Their treatments range according to the customized facial prescribed, 60mins ranges from £400-£500 and 90mins ranges from £420-£750.

Amie explains Biologique Recherche as a brand "We are completely unique as a brand from the beautiful high quality high performance botanical, biological and marine ingredients to the specific techniques used to go along with the facials.

BR is like a raw food diet for the skin without needing invasive treatments and products this brand works to balance, repair and restore for a healthier functioning skin.

Biologique Recherche separates itself from the norm by having a "Micrologist" attitude towards its products and clients. There are no set products for a certain skin issue or skin type. We look at the skin and see the "Skin Instant", a snapshot of your skin at this particular time and treating it in its current state. With our therapists mixing cocktails of serums and blending our creams, to make unique and bespoke concoctions for the individual client."

The way my skin was treated and everything explained, showed they know what their products really do for you they take time in analysing what will really work best for you and give you the perfect results you are seeking. I would go back in a flash, it was in all honesty the best facial I have EVER had! Now I have had a few but we instantly not only you but others can see the improvements in your skin, you know its something that has really done the trick. It also keeps getting better day after day and helps balance the skin not just momentarily but now almost 2 weeks on my skin still feels fantastic.

Now if you really want to go the extra mile then the Haute Couture experience is the ultimate in glamour and exclusivity created and offered by Biologique Recherche. The service starts with a one-to-one appointment with our Paris based BR Doctor (Dermatologist), who will fly over to London to conduct the Skin Analysis. The Doctor will analyse your skin, and send the reading back to the BR Laboratories on the Champs Elysees in Paris, where the finest hand-picked ingredients will be used to create a meticulously tailored cream and serum, absolutely unique to your skin and its needs.

Fretty amazing huh? I would love to be able to have that done and for a wedding or real special occasion or if you just can afford it, it would be the ultimate in exclusivity and luxury pampering.

Now as I said where I had my facial it isn't open to the public but lots of spas around the country offer treatments and products from BR. If you are interested do let me know as Amie has very kindly sent me a list of all the UK locations if you want to glow too :D

Would you get a Biologique Recherche treatment, what do you think of them brand?
