

THE BEAUTY EXPERT

allure

SEPTEMBER 2015

COOL FALL Makeup

Colors to Try
Right Now

ROBBING THE CRADLE

You know when your skin was really amazing? The day you were born. The delivery room is now providing anti-aging skin-care inspiration.

Biologique Recherche Crème Masque Vernix uses a mix of fatty emollients that simulates vernix, the waxy coating on a newborn baby. Hourglass Equilibrium Biomimetic Skin Active Serum employs a plant-based lipid that mimics the one found in amniotic fluid. This has all the hallmarks of a gimmick, but the science may be legit. The emollients and lipids really can replicate the fats in vernix and amniotic fluid, which hydrate and improve the skin barrier. "These formulas are especially good for very dry, sun-damaged skin," says Joshua Zeichner, a dermatologist in New York City. They're also especially good for people with money to burn: They cost $179 and $350, respectively. — DANIELLE PERCAMENT

THE BEST

TION:
ty Trend
US

Behind the Scenes With a
Skin Doctor
And Her 15 New Rules

$3.99US $4.99FOR

