Adidas ambassador, DJ, and cool-girl influencer extraordinaire, Hannah Bronfman is always jumping time zones and traveling the world. Now, the 30-year-old model has landed home in NYC, taking a short break from her crazy busy jet-setting schedule to take Bazaar through her full nighttime skincare routine.

Hair up and chic bathrobe on, Bronfman shows us all the tips, tricks, and beloved products she uses to keep her skin flawless and Instagram ready. To begin, the athleisure ambassador starts by gently removing her makeup with Come Clean's organic Cleansing Cloths, followed by TSA-friendly powder Enzyme Cleanser by Dr. Barbara Sturm—which is a win because it's specifically formulated for girls with darker skin-tones, plus it really gets every last stubborn clump of mascara off the lashes.

For active ingredients, Bronfman swears by the cult-favorite Biologique Recherche P50 Lotion, which she adds to a cotton pad and pats up and around her face (always lifting up, instead of swiping down). A God-send for helping elevate the model's hyper-pigmentation, she offers a cautionary warning that the stuff is intense, so she recommends talking to your dermatologist before adding it to your routine.
