Skin Science

Any beauty junkie worth her salt would know that a basic skincare routine, while essential, is sometimes not sufficient to combat environmental stresses and improve deteriorating skin conditions. To the rescue are Biologique Recherche's star products, the 12 different types of Quintessential Serum that are the purest formulations in the brand's range. Boasting high-quality botanical, marine and biological extracts in concentrates of over 20 per cent, they are cold formulations with no artificial fragrances, which preserve the integrity of active ingredients and lower the chance of allergic reactions. Each serum is designed to treat specific skin imbalances, with the most popular being Oligo-Proteines Marine (for instant radiance), Placenta (for deep repair), Elastine Pure (for lines and eyes), and Collagen Natif (for firming and toning).
